CHÂTEL FUN BIKE

This activity involves riding BMX bikes with wide tyres on the mountain laser biathlon tracks.

Equipped in this way, the BMX is fun and accessible to everyone, it is also a helpful stepping stone to enduro and downhill riding. Achieving the combined goal of riding and shooting, requires mastery of balance, breathing, concentration, and biking. The laser gun, used for the shooting section, is completely safe.

There are different free-wheeling routes:

The green course with two options; either following a path beside the rolling carpet, or a longer option dotted with fun modules through the trees. The final climb must be completed with momentum only ... no pedalling!

The blue course is more technical, going into the woods, along the Dranse river between stumps, rocks and wooden modules. The goal here, is to test your dexterity, by negotiating these obstacles.

The rules require an initial descent before shooting. Controlled breathing and concentration are required to hit the 5 targets. Once done, descend the track of your choice to the top of the rolling carpet. The first back wins the game. If a shot is missed a penalty lap on the flat loop is required.

INDIVIDUAL PRICES FROM:

SUSTAINABILITY, CULTURE, HERITAGE

“FLOCON VERT”, “PAYS D’ART ET D’HISTOIRE”, “GEOPARC” LABELS

Agriculture, landscapes, traditions, heritage, hiking, know-how, gastronomy, new cultural and tourist space...

FLOCON VERT

Flocon Vert is an accreditation which guarantees the sustainability credentials of mountain tourist destinations. The Mountain Riders association developed this idea to support territories in their sustainability transition and give mountain lovers a clear indication of committed tourist destinations. It is good practice to choose an accredited resort and be sure of supporting responsible tourism.

Châtel has been Flocon Vert accredited since 2015 and since the last renewal on December 7, 2020, is labelled Flocon Vert - 2 flakes. The work required to maintain this level, or even move to the next, is gradual. It requires the implication of all local services and businesses

Given its agro-pastoral history and landscape, Châtel naturally fulfills many of the criteria required.

VILLE ET PAYS D’ART ET D’HISTOIRE

This label recognises territories which, aware of the challenges presented by the appropriation of their architecture and heritage by their inhabitants, engage actively to educate, conserve, mediate and support architectural quality and the quality of the environment.

The Abondance Valley was accredited in 2003 and the extension of this accreditation to all municipalities in the Evian Valley d’Abondance was validated in August 2019.

GEOPARC

A UNESCO Global Geopark is a unified geographical area, with sites and landscapes of geological interest of international importance. They are managed globally ensuring protection, education, and sustainable development. The Chablais UNESCO Global Geopark is in Haute-Savoie, between Lake Geneva and Mont-Blanc. It extends over 62 municipalities and covers nearly 900 km² with over 150,000 inhabitants. A dedicated guide to the Chablais Géoparc has just been published making the information more accessible.

The Chablais obtained the Global Geopark label in 2012. It extends from the southern shores of Lake Geneva to the summits of the Portes du Soleil. In Châtel, the Col de Bassachaux is a Géosite as is the Lac des Plagnes in Abondance. The partner visitor sites are: La Vieille Douane in Châtel, the Maison du Fromage and the Abbaye d’Abondance.

The quality of the local natural and cultural heritage makes the Geopark an essential destination for visitors wishing to understand the true essence of the Chablais region.

AGRICULTURE

Châtel has 30 working farms. Between 10 and 15 of them make Abondance (AOP) cheese every day, in the village in winter and in the mountains in summer. These farms are passed from generation to generation, preserving both the farms and the traditional way of life. The average age of today's farmers is between 35 and 40 yrs old.

TRADITIONS

In some areas life has continued, largely unchanged for generations. The 'emmontagnée' at the end of May/beginning of June is an example. Farmers take their Abondance cattle and leave the village for the high pastures where they spend the summer, often moving from pasture to pasture ensuring the cattle always have the best quality grass. Then, with the arrival of the first snows, they return to their village farms for the winter.

KNOW-HOW

Abondance cheese - AOP since 1990 is made every day. Weighing between 6kg and 12kg, the cheeses have concave sides and are between 7cm and 8cm high. One wheel of this semi-cooked, pressed cheese requires around 100 litres of full fat, unpasteurised milk. Each wheel is then matured for 100 days in cellars at a temperature of between 11° and 12° before the amber-rinded cheese with its signature soft, melty consistency is ready to eat.

GASTRONOMY

Abondance cheese is the principal ingredient in the famous local dish Berthoud, which has had the « Spécialité Traditionnelle Garantie » label since September 2020. This local speciality holds pride of place in Châtel and the Abondance valley and its preparation follows strict guidelines. Many alpine farms and restaurants along the hiking trails welcome guests offering ample opportunity to try this local delicacy in its traditional surroundings.

HERITAGE

The old village buildings reveal much about the Châtel and Abondance Valley identity. These traditional farms, with two low-pitched roof sections and carved balconies, have endured for generations. Some are over 100 years old. Beside them, the small barns (greniers) were traditionally used to protect valuables in case of fire in the main house.

Originally scattered over the landscape, these chalets are the inspiration for the many modern 2 to 4 story wood and stone built chalets and homes now built amongst them. In this way the traditional architectural style of the area has been sympathetically preserved.

LANDSCAPE

Located at mid-mountain height, Châtel (1,200m altitude) is the last village along the Abondance Valley. It is well located on a sunny, south facing slope in the northern part of the Northern Alps, on the border of Valais, Switzerland. The River Dranse, with its source in one of the outlying hamlets, Plaine Dranse, flows through the village.

The 16km path along the river is regularly maintained in spring providing an agreeable environment for walkers and mountain bikers. Once completed this path will link Châtel and Chevenoz.

The Châtel landscape comprises a significant number of forests and semi natural areas, 89.6% (in 2018).

In this landscape, created in 1974 on natural wetland, fed by the Vannes stream flowing from Pas de Morgins in Switzerland, Lake Vannes sits in a beautiful natural environment. For its 50th birthday, the Lake is undergoing a major makeover to enhance the site's natural surroundings and assure the future of its lively, welcoming appeal with a new dynamic for visitors.

A stroll along the shores of the lake is the perfect environment for contemplation. A raised wooden path allows visitors to see into the lake (a seating area is planned). New programmable, environmentally friendly lighting has been installed. The connection to Vannes stream has been rewilded. A playground over 400 m² with a zip line, slide, balance course for little ones, has replaced the old ice rink. The lighting of the site has been completely redesigned to meet the challenges of protecting nocturnal biodiversity.

HIKING

Hiking is the primary summer activity. Numerous visitors wait impatiently until the snow melts to put on their walking boots and conquer the great outdoors!

Hiking ideas on the 90km of footpaths in Châtel

- Super Châtel Lakes (fairly easy) / Châtel
- Boudîmes chalets (easy) / Châtel
- Tour de Don (difficult) / Châtel and Torgon (Switzerland)

Hiking is also the perfect way to discover the mid-mountain heritage. See pastures and forests, farms, chalets, chapels, oratories and crosses. There are fascinating fauna and flora, the UNESCO Chablais Geopark at the col de Bassachaux (1,778m altitude) and the Natura 2000 nature reserve at Mont de Grange (2,432m altitude). Visitors can explore the reserve unaccompanied or join a guided visit to learn more about the natural riches of this protected area.

With or without a Multi Pass, some may prefer walking the trails in a family group.

THE OLD CUSTOMS HOUSE, MOUNTAIN CONTRABAND VISITOR CENTRE

The Old Customs house is an interesting museum and information centre chronicling this important aspect of local history. Smuggling was rife throughout Châtel, the Abondance Valley and the Portes du Soleil due to their proximity to the Swiss border.

Visitors can enjoy the museum independently or with commentary and there are fun activities and games for all ages, immersing participants in the world of the principal smuggling protagonists: The smugglers and the customs men.

Amongst them “The Old Customs House is Recruiting!” with an original approach. The current Customs Man is retiring, and a replacement is required.

Participants agree to accept the challenge of trying various job-specific activities.

Or try the “Secret operations of La Vieille Douane” challenge in which participants put themselves in the shoes of a customs officer or smuggler and test their reactions in different situations.

NEW CULTURAL AND TOURISM AREA

Currently under construction, this new facility will be completed in 2025. Located in the village centre, it will house the tourist office and a room for events, seminars and ceremonies.

Like the Forme d’O aquatic centre inaugurated in July 2014, the design of which is based on “High Environmental Quality” criteria, the cultural and tourism facility has also taken environmental considerations into account using local wood labelled “Bois des Alpes” and low-carbon concrete in its construction. A biomass boiler will also be installed.
